

Keren Mahabi

I am currently serving as the Manager Strategic Intelligence at Kina Bank. My role involves exploring emerging trends playing out in domestic & international settings, from both an internal & external perspective, to aid delivery of the bank's strategy. With the rise of Artificial Intelligence (AI) adoption within the finance industry, a core part of my responsibility is driving the exploration of AI usage within Kina Bank.

I graduated with a Bachelor's Degree in Business Management (majoring in Banking & Finance) from the University of Papua New Guinea in 2021 and have attained and am continuously attaining industry certifications in the fields of corporate intelligence, finance, fintech and digital business management from institutions such as: Intelligence Rising, CFA (Chartered Financial Analyst), CFI (Corporate Finance Institute) and AIMA (All India Management Association).

I am building my career in bank strategic management, capital markets and financial technology, leveraging from prior experience in treasury and financial markets.
